

Independence Day Fireworks & Festivities

Yes there will be fireworks in Aurora!

And then some.

Start the holiday weekend off right on Thursday! How? By attending the free Banks in Harmony Concert featuring the toe-tapping happy tunes of the Queen City Jazz Band. They will be in DelMar Park (6th Avenue and Peoria) starting at 6:30 p.m. And Miguel's will be there selling their famous burritos!

And what about July 4? While Southlands will not have a fireworks display this year, there will be a special summer concert on the Town Square featuring the Conjunto Colores and other holiday entertainment starting at 5 p.m.

Then drift on over to the Aurora Municipal Center (you know, City Hall!) great lawn where at 7 p.m. you'll be able to enjoy the world class Air Force Academy Falconaires Jazz Band, followed by the Air Force Academy Concert Band—whoa! They'll get you feeling that pride in being an American in short order.

Finally, top it all off with a HUGE fireworks display (25-yes, you heard right, 25 minutes worth) you can enjoy from anywhere around the AMC starting around 9 p.m. (sun goes down at exactly 8:41 p.m.). Lots of good parking at the Town Center of Aurora, Aurora City Place and the Community College of Aurora.

Have a great Independence Day!!
