Job creators gather at The Chamber

With the purpose of strengthening our local economy, Sen. Cory Gardner and the Aurora Chamber of Commerce pulled together a forum of Chamber member businesses on Friday, June 19. Sen. Gardner and his senior leadership team visited with more than 25 business leaders at The Chamber offices, discussing topics including highways and transit, the VA, the Affordable Care Act, regulation reforms, energy growth, research and development for healthcare, and the Trade Promotion Authority.

"Dramatically increasing Colorado jobs is one the best opportunities we have to spur growth and reassess American Leadership," says Chamber President and CEO Kevin Houghen.

"Keeping in touch with the small business owners who are responsible for so much of our economic growth is critically important. I'm glad I was able to meet with members of the The Chamber, and I look forward to continuing communication with them as the Business leaders gather at the Aurora Chamber of Commerce on June 19 for a forum with Senator Cory Gardner.

Senate considers legislation affecting Colorado entrepreneurs."

The diverse business community was well represented at the event by individuals from Advanced Circuits, Aurora Economic Development Council, Boeing, Centennial Container, Children's Hospital Colorado, ConocoPhillips, Falck Rocky Mountain, FirstBank, Forsberg Engerman Company, GEO Group, Good Chemistry, Hurricane Grill and Wings, Parsons Brinckerhoff, Spalding Rehabilitation Hospital, Wagner Equipment Co, and Wells Fargo Bank - Business Banking. ■

Past, present, and future Chamber leadership creates economic prosperity

Creating jobs and wealth, and expanding healthcare: these are just some of the priorities for The Chamber, and The Chamber Chair of the Board of Directors.

The Chair is the chief elected officer of the Aurora Chamber of Commerce and presides at general membership meetings, meetings of the Board of Directors, and Executive Committee meetings. ■

Chair's Letter

It's all about the Relationships

Jason Altshuler
Chair

First, a big thank you to our immediate past chair David Patterson and previous chair Jeff Thompson, for their leadership over the past three years, which has continued to enhance The Chamber as a progressive, vibrant organization in our community. I've had the privilege to work with these fine gentlemen (as treasurer and chair-elect) for the last couple of years, and I have learned a lot from them. I feel honored and humbled as I follow in their footsteps, and will do my best to represent The Chamber well.

Over the 114 years The Aurora Chamber of Commerce has been in existence, we have had many great leaders. When you get the chance, take 15 minutes to walk down the Chamber hallway... you can see the former Board Chair letters and pictures displayed. It is quite spectacular to see all the talented folks who have volunteered and stepped up to the challenge. When you see one of these fine ladies or gentlemen, please thank them for taking on this role and be sure to thank their business (for supporting them) as they volunteered their time to help The Chamber.

Aurora has an extremely successful

Chamber because of the cohesive working relationship between our great Board of Directors (listed below) and our world-class Chamber staff (also listed below). We are so fortunate to have such a knowledgeable Chamber President, Kevin Hougen, along with his wonderful staff. I'm constantly amazed at how they know practically everyone. I feel like if I stand next to them, maybe their awesomeness will wear off on me... and I too can know more about Aurora, its wonderful businesses, and its great and diverse people.

As I mentioned in the title of this column, it's all about the relationships... Want to have a thriving and successful business? Well, you're going to need to know some great people! I know, you say "Jason, where am I going to meet a lot of great people who can help me with my business and connect me with my community?" (I'm so glad you asked that question.) The Aurora Chamber, of course!

Attend a business before or business after hours event, a tips and leads group, or perhaps make a new friend or business connection at a ribbon cutting. Get to know one of the Chamber ambassadors, or a Board member. Talk with one of the Chamber staff and prepare to be amazed by their knowledge and connections. Remember, it is all about the relationships, and as a member of the Chamber - you, and your employees, have access to this "social network." Sure, you're busy - as we all are. Schedule some time in your day, reward yourself with some new friendships/business contacts, and connect with your community. After all, they're the ones who patronize your business, so be sure to thank them and patronize theirs.

Social media and technology may change the way we do business and interact, but it is never a replacement for a true business relationship. We need that handshake, eye contact, verbal and language cues... otherwise, the context is sometimes lost.

Fellow (and future) Aurora Chamber members: I hope to see you at a Chamber event in the near future, as we strengthen our relationships with our community, businesses, and each other. I want to wish all of you (and your businesses) a very happy, prosperous, and successful 2015-2016.

"She was also recently selected to be a part of the Workforce Development Workgroup for the State's Innovation Model Program."

The Partnership is an industry-led initiative convening workforce, education and economic development designed to meet the hiring, retention and training needs of the healthcare industry. The Partnership includes four workforce regions, key post-secondary educators and virtually all the major hospital systems and ambulatory care facilities in the metro area.

This sector strategy provides the framework and vehicle for direction and innovative solutions to meet the healthcare industry's changing workforce needs. Leaders from the six hospital systems and ambulatory care facilities and recruiters from the metro area identified in demand occupations that remain hard to fill and critical to business. These include specialty nursing such as critical care and operating room nurses, medical coding and billing, medical lab technicians and scientists.

Subject Matter Work Groups are beginning to explore new solutions to training in four other critical occupations: surgical technicians, pharmacy technicians, licensed practical nurses, and medical assistants.

"By listening to the needs of business, the Partnership has been able to develop and deploy industry-relevant training programs impacting the talent pipeline with qualified applicants. These programs address the skills gap that industry is currently experiencing," said Capel-Jones. "Working with our partners in education and in industry has made all the difference in building the bridge from education to employment."

Support the 7/20 Permanent Memorial

A mass shooting occurred in Aurora on July 20, 2012, at a midnight screening of The Dark Knight Rises. A gunman, dressed in tactical clothing, set off tear gas grenades and shot into the audience with multiple firearms, killing 12 people and injuring 70 others.

Since then, the City of Aurora has shown incredible resiliency in emerging from the shadow of this violent act. Now, nearly three years later, Aurora City Council is requesting help to construct a permanent memorial for the victims. The City of Aurora is repurposing an existing garden on the grounds of its Municipal Center, and overseeing the project which will include benches, coverings, and meaningful art – determined by the victims and their families.

To find out how you can support Aurora's 7/20 Permanent Memorial, text the letters "LA" to 74574, and information will be texted back to you.

AICS is an energy-saving star!

Aurora Interfaith Community Services (AICS) was selected as the Xcel Energy's May 2015 Energy Star of the Month. AICS was selected because it has saved nine percent this year, compared to its 2014 energy bills. The savings for the first quarter of 2015 will buy food for a week for 250 people.

The team effort of staff and volunteers made this possible, along with modifications made to the building, including keeping the temperature regulated by a new thermostat, and refrigerators that can become freezers.

Xcel's audit of AICS was through the Non-Profit Energy Efficiency Program (NEEP), which identified ways that AICS could improve its energy use, and provided donations for the improvements.

Aurora wins challenge

The City of Aurora won this year's National Mayor's Challenge for Water Conservation after garnering more pledges than any other city in the country its size.

Sponsored by the Wyland Foundation, the challenge is an annual educational outreach campaign designed to encourage people to save every drop. Cities, which are categorized by population, try to get the most residents to go to mywaterpledge.com and promise to do a few simple things to save, such as taking shorter showers or using a refillable water bottle. Participants from winning cities then draw for hundreds of prizes, including a Toyota Prius V and a $1,000 home improvement store shopping spree.

Aurora led the competition and ultimately received 1,754 pledges. Denver participated as well, but was in a different population category. They took second place in the contest, behind San Diego.

"The Conservation Challenge is a fun and easy way to remind people about all of the different things they can do to conserve," Mayor Steve Hogan said. "I had no doubt Aurora would win, because we have been wise water users for decades."

If Aurora participants follow through with their pledges, they would save enough water to fill 112 Olympic-sized swimming pools. ■

Leadership Aurora Class of 2015 Graduates "with honors!"

Following 10 months of being together as the self-designated "Best Class Ever," the Leadership Aurora Class of 2014-2015 Graduated on June 4 at the Aurora Municipal Center.

Many class members commented on how much they had learned, as well as how much they enjoyed the camaraderie of - and connection with - their classmates. Denise Denton, Executive Director of Aurora Health Access penned a poem about her experience in Leadership Aurora. Here is an excerpt:

I learned 'bout our city,
our officials, our cops,
Our water, our history,
No wonder it rocks!
We toured theaters and shelters,
News rooms and schools;
Got a new 'preciation,
'bout how this city rules!....
And then there's the people,
I met this past year,

Leadership Aurora Class of 2014-2015.

That we ALL make good leaders, is now so very clear.
